You've just walked on ahead of me
And I've got to understand
You must release the ones you love
And let go of their hand.
I try and cope the best I can
But I'm missing you so much
If I could only see you
And once more feel your touch.
Yes, you've just walked on ahead of me
Don't worry I'll be fine
But now and then I swear I feel
Your hand slip into mine. (anonymous)

THE DEATH OF A LOVED ONE

is the most profound of all sorrows. The grief that comes with such a loss is intense and multifaceted, affecting our emotions, our bodies, and our lives. Grief is preoccupying and depleting. Emotionally, grief is a mixture of raw feelings such as sorrow, anguish, anger, regret, longing, fear, and deprivation. Grief may be experienced physically as exhaustion, emptiness, tension, sleeplessness, or loss of appetite.

Grief invades our daily lives in many sudden gaps and changes, like that empty place at the dinner table, or the sudden loss of affection and companionship, as well as in many new apprehensions, adjustments, and uncertainties.

The loss of a loved one throws every aspect of our lives out of balance. The closer we were to the person who died, the more havoc the loss creates. Love does not die quickly. Hence to grieve is also “to celebrate the depth of the union. Tears are then the jewels of remembrance, sad but glistening with the beauty of the past. So, grief in its bitterness marks the end...but it also is praise to the one who is gone.”

REFLECTIONS AND POEMS

Death is not the enemy of life, but its friend, for it is the knowledge that our years are limited which makes them so precious. It is the truth that time is but lent to us which makes us, at our best, look upon our years as a trust handed into our temporary keeping. We are like children privileged to spend a day in a great park, a park filled with many gardens and playgrounds and azure-tinted lakes with white boats sailing upon the tranquil waves. True, the day allotted to each one of us is not the same in length, in light, in beauty. Some children of earth are privileged to spend a long and sunlit day in the garden of the earth. For others the day is shorter, cloudier, and dusk descends more quickly as in a winter's tale. But whether our life is a long summery day or a shorter wintry afternoon, we know that inevitably there are storms and squalls which overcast even the bluest heaven and there are sunlit rays which pierce the darkest autumn sky. The day that we are privileged to spend in the great park of life is not the same for all human beings, but there is enough beauty and joy and gaiety in the hours if we will but treasure them.

— Rabbi Joshua L. Liebman

There are stars whose brightness is visible on earth although they have long burned out. There are people whose brilliance continues to light the world though they are no longer among the living. These lights are particularly bright when the night is dark. They light the way for us all.

— Hannah Senesh

There is a season for everything,
A time for every experience under heaven:
A time to be born and a time to die,
A time to plant and a time to build up;
A time to weep and a time to laugh,
A time to grieve and a time to dance;
A time to throw stones and a time to gather stones,
A time to embrace and a time to refrain from embracing;
A time to seek and a time to lose,
A time to keep and a time to discard;
A time to tear and a time to sew,
A time to keep silent and a time to speak.

— Based on Ecclesiastes 3

Our angels

Spend much of their time sleeping. . .

No matter how long they may sleep,

One hundred, two hundred years,

Ten centuries is not too much.

The first to wake up

Takes the torch that has been handed down,

Adds a drop of oil to the lamp,

Blesses the Eternal Light,

And then recalls the name

Of every other angel,

And one by one as they are remembered

They wake up.

For them as for us

There is nothing more beautiful

Than memory.

— Yehuda Amichai

REFLECTIONS AND POEMS

Memory is a precious gift, for it transforms the moments of our lives and events in history into an unfolding narrative. We become acutely aware of being part of an eternal people that begin a spiritual journey in the distant past with its goal to be realized in the remote future. We become conscious not only of our mortality, but also of the sacred opportunity that we have in our brief life to perform acts of sanctification which may improve our lot and the lot of humanity generally. Our prayers emphasize the transience of life, our yearning for eternity, and the inspiration provided by the memory of our beloved. Our ancient covenant is renewed through memory. The inspiring figures in both the remote and recent past remain as constant companions and role models. They teach by precept and example. Their story is our story. Their courage, wisdom and goodness are a permanent challenge to us. May the memory of each beloved live on as an inspiration to us, and may his/her memory be an everlasting benediction.

— Gates of the Seasons

LIFE IS A JOURNEY

Birth is a beginning and death a destination

But life is a journey.

A going, a growing from stage to stage:

From childhood to maturity and youth to old age.

From innocence to awareness and ignorance to knowing;

From foolishness to discretion and then perhaps, to wisdom.

From weakness to strength or strength to weakness and often back again.

From health to sickness and back we pray, to health again.

From offense to forgiveness, from loneliness to love,

From joy to gratitude, from pain to compassion.

From grief to understanding, from fear to faith,

From defeat to defeat to defeat, until, looking backward or ahead:

We see that victory lies not at some high place along the way,

But in having made the journey, stage by stage, a sacred pilgrimage.

Birth is a beginning and death a destination;

But life is a journey, a sacred pilgrimage,

Made stage by stage. . . To life-everlasting.

— Rabbi Alvin Fine

*The last word has not been spoken, the last sentence has not been written,
the final verdict is not in.*

*It is never too late to change my mind, my direction, to say no to the past, and yes to the future,
to offer remorse, to ask and give forgiveness.*

*It is never too late to start over again,
to feel again, to love again, to hope again.*

It is never too late to overcome despair, to turn sorrow into resolve and pain into purpose.

It is never too late to alter my world, not by magic incantations or manipulations of the cards or deciphering the stars.

*But by opening myself to curative forces buried within,
to hidden energies, the powers in my interior self.*

*In sickness and in dying,
it is never too late.*

Living, I teach;

Dying, I teach.

*It is never too late —
some word of mine, some touch, some caress may be remembered.
Some gesture may play a role beyond the last movement of my head and hand.*

Write it on my epitaph that my loved ones be consoled, it is never, never too late.

— Rabbi Harold Schulweis

REFLECTIONS AND POEMS

At the rising of the sun we remember them.

At the blowing of the wind and in the chill of winter we remember them.

At the opening of the buds and in the rebirth of spring we remember them.

At the blueness of the skies and in the warmth of the summer we remember them.

At the rustling of the leaves and in the beauty of autumn we remember them.

At the beginning of the year and when it ends we remember them.

When we are weary and in need of strength we remember them.

When we are lost and sick at heart we remember them.

When we have joys we yearn to share we remember them.

When we have decisions that are difficult to make we remember them.

When we have achievements that are based on theirs we remember them.

As long as we live, they too will live; for they are now a part of us, as we remember them.

ENDURING

Like an awakening after a long illness to find your health stole back in while you slept, your sorrow, in its time, will retreat, and the knowledge you carried all along will re-emerge, whole and cleansed.

*One day you will not thrash in the too-bright light, looking for a corner in which to close your eyes.
One morning the weight will not be there beneath your eyelids, the first thing you wake to;
it will not settle on your tongue like a lump of salt.*

*And because you have stayed this long unrelenting, in the unrelenting world, you know that time, though imperfect,
is diligent, and wrestles down grief,*

and that all things are born small and grow large – except grief, which is born large and grows small.

When I die

If you need to weep

Cry for someone

Walking the street beside you.

And when you need me

Put your arms around others

And give them what you need to give me.

You can love me most by letting

Hands touch hands,

And souls touch souls.

You can love me most by

Sharing your joys

And multiplying your good deeds.

You can love me most by

Letting me live in your eyes

And not in your mind.

And when you say Kaddish for me

Remember what our Torah teaches,

Love doesn't die,

People do.

So when all that's left of me is love

Give me away.

Exalted and hallowed be God's great name in the world which God created, according to plan.
May God's majesty be revealed in the days of our lifetime and the life of all Israel -- speedily, imminently, to which we say Amen.

Blessed be God's great name to all eternity.

Blessed, praised, honored, exalted, extolled, glorified, adored, and lauded be the name of the Holy Blessed One, beyond all earthly words and songs of blessings, praise, and comfort. To which we say Amen.

May there be abundant peace from heaven, and life, for us and all Israel. To which we say Amen.

May the One who creates harmony on high, bring peace to us and to all Israel.
To which we say Amen.
